

Special Invitation to Birth to Three Providers
Transition from Early Intervention to Special Education

No Fee!

Click on date choice to link to registration.

Thursday, February 27, 2014, EASTCONN

or

Thursday, March 13, 2014, CES

No Fee!

2:30 pm - 4:30 pm

This session will be led by personnel from the Connecticut State Department of Education, Bureau of Special Education and the Connecticut Birth to Three System. It will provide an overview of the federal requirements related to transition as well as current state transition policies and procedures from both service delivery systems.

This information is particularly relevant to special education and Birth to Three administrators, directors, supervisors, and staff who have responsibilities for the transition of children and their families from Birth to Three to preschool special education programs and services. The major focus of the session is to provide an open forum and opportunity for all participants to engage in a dialogue about transition successes and challenges and how the two state agencies can support Birth to Three program and school district personnel in their efforts. Case studies will be presented to clarify misunderstandings and highlight appropriate transition practices.

Participants will:

- Learn the roles and responsibilities of various personnel in transitioning children and their families;
- Receive updates on Birth to Three and Early Childhood Special Education activities and resources;
- Engage in discussion about transition myths; and
- Participate in an open forum and discussion.

For More Information

Ashley M. Coleman

Senior Project Assistant, SERC

acoleman@ctserc.org or (860) 632-1485, ext. 295

